Kiwaniis and JCI Partnership

Kiwaniis International and Junior Chamber International (JCI) has entered into a new partnership that will provide service to more than 80 nations and extend their reach to communities around the world, with the purpose of uniting civil society and engaging global active citizens to create sustainable impact. JCI's members, who age out of the organization when they turn 40, can look to Kiwanis for similar service and leadership opportunities.

"This partnership will benefit Kiwanis and JCI," said Stan Soderstrom, executive director of Kiwanis International. "Our missions are parallel as we both work hard to improve communities around the world. Kiwanis' focus is on addressing the needs of children and JCI focuses on providing development opportunities that empower young people to create positive change."
